

Why now?

“Ayúdame”
 (“Help me”) “Nooooooo”

“Help” “Nooooooo”

Anastasio Hernandez-Rojas, murdered by the US border patrol in 2010, and Trayvon Martin, murdered by a vigilante in 2012, both were recorded screaming the same thing, pleading for their lives: “Help me.....Noooooo.”

Thousands protest

Thousands of people have stood up to try to bring the murderers to justice. These events and the protests in Egypt, Wisconsin and Occupy are inspiring the American people and arousing new people to join the fight.

However, Trayvon and Anastasio are not just two more links in a long chain of racist killings. The murders of Trayvon and Anastasio are connected to other ruthless murders taking place here and around the world. They are part of the development of a global fascist culture that is being created that says, “If you don’t like someone, kill them—and you’ll get away with it.” This is the face of fascism. It is coming about now as a result of the changes in the economy and the elimination of work due to high technology. The rulers need fascism to stop the developing motion for a new cooperative society where the needs of all are met.

Next step to stop these killings

To stop the murders of people like Anastasio and Trayvon, we have to fight for the individual murderers to be convicted and punished. But to stop these things from happening, we need a society not organized around the needs of corporations that say that the individual has no rights. We must have a cooperative society where everyone’s needs are met and where everyone can live a happy, peaceful cultured life. We need to rip out the cause of these murders completely at the root, and this means moving towards creating a new society while we fight for justice in these individual cases.
